The wife said, make a dollar." 'Anything at all, to try to So, I went, and I had no trouble getting in the army. I enlisted right away. I didn't need any training--I was already trained. So, I went right on duty. Taking prisoners from New Brunswick out to Al? berta. The Mounties were with us.... When we filled the train up with prisoners, the Mounties went--one Mountie in each train. And me and another veteran went between the trains. You know where the train is-- that's where we stood with a rifle and bayonet there. For two hours at a time.... So, I sent the cheque home to her, and she kept on going. For two years--a little over two years. Sadie: He went in in '42 and he came out in '45. (And all this time, of course, you were home. Did you have men at home to help you with the farm?) Sadie: No. The two boys, they weren't old enough to do anything. They went to school up--there was a school up here where we went in the last--a school up here. In Smelt Brook up here. And they used to go to school. The ones that were old enough--there's 3 of them old enough.... (Were you still keeping an? imals?) Oh, yes. Oh, we just kept animalsv like that until you couldn't look after them. The cows. We still keep pigs. (You had your animals, and you had your children. Did your mother come to help you and live with you?) No, my mother lived up in South Harbour. No, she had a family of Go ACADIAN STRIPS DAILY BETWEEN SYDNEY & HALIFAX • miP52 - Pick ups in: NORTH SYDNEY, DEPART ARRIVE SYDNEY HALIFAX 8:45 A.M. 5:10 P.M. LITTLE BRAS DDR. BIG HARBOUR. So she couldn't come. I had no help in any way. No help. No help at all. (And how many children did you have?) We had 8. Six girls and two boys. Well, I had 5 when he went in the ar? my. Had the rest after he came back. John: We lost another boy be? sides. He was killed. I was going to make a song about that, but I couldn't stand--couldn't do it. (No.) MI die: Oh, we had a good life. We were happy. (That would be the hardest. That would be "" the hardest, I suppose, to write one for yourself.) John: Yeah, it's the hardest, to make one for your? self. He was killed kind of care? less, too. Sa- 4ie: He was working...in Halifax. John: They had a crusher, and a pan feeder, you know. And he was in cleaning the pan feeder, and the boss came along, pressed the button, started the pan feeder. Killed him?? He never asked was anyone in the pan feed? er. Sadie; Well, he had no busi? ness. He shouldn't have been there. It HIGHLAND OFFICE PRODUCTS _--_ YOUR COMPLETE .
