

Page 92 - Pere Anselme Chiasson: Conversation and a Family Album

ISSUE : Issue 56

Published by Ronald Caplan on 1991/1/1

and come (back) and take his child. So he tried to pass the two. But when he came in the middle of the mast, it was shaking so much that he dropped both of them. And they were smashed between boat and land. Things like that, see. But I don't remember where. I have asked, afterwards, people in Cheticamp if they would remember where they were. Nobody knew.... It's people that they knew, you see. They knew. I remember my grandfather knew who they were. It was not from Cheticamp, it was not any relations, but they had heard, learned, who they were, were Acadians. Now, where was it? They I wrote a poem on that story (the poem on page 91) when I was at the college. I won the first prize. Pere Anselme Chiasson's book Cheticamp: History and Acadian Traditions is still available from your bookstore or from Breakwater Books, 1-800-563-7323. Price $14.95 paperback. Pere Anselme's other publications include L'île de Shippagan. anecdotes, tours et "qqntfgS (1967), Les Lésendes des Ties de la Madeleine (1969), and Les lies de la Madeleine, vie matérielle et sociale (1980). The Notman photograph of Cheticamp circa 1914 is taken from Owen Fitzgerald's book of photographs, Cape Breton: A Changing Scene, it is still available from the University College of Cape Breton Press, P. O. Box 5300, Sydney, N. S. B1P 6L2. A Commitment to Cape Breton MABOU GARDENS jf' VISIT '- Grand Lake Road SYDNEY. 562-6000 Locally Owned OPEN 12 MONTHS A YEAR! Buy All Your Garden / & Gift Needs Cape Breton's Largest Full-Service Garden Centre Complete Flower Shop " Wire Service