to do? What do you expect me to do?" He said, "Well, I don't know," He said, "I really don't know, I didn't sleep all night. And I was thinking about it this morning, and," he said, "the children are getting awful attached." So, I said, "When you go to Iona this afternoon, why don't you...." See, my faith is pretty deep, you know, and I depend a lot on priests, and always did. Or Sisters, Either one or the other, I have great faith in them. And if they let me down, it's a terrible letdown. But I've never had that experience, so I don't know really how I'd accept it. But I think it would be terrible. But anyway, I asked Neil to go see Fr. Bernie Chisholm, and ask him if I could talk to him. So that evening--we put the kids to bed, and we told the old folks we were going up to Iona, that I wanted to see Fr. Chisholm, So, we didn't tell them anything until we came home, other than that. We didn't even tell them about what Mary had gone through the night before. Because Neil tried to protect his parents from a lot of the extra anxieties that might be going on with the kids,... Chisholm who I 'fja$??, and where I was working,... Oh yes, he knew, from seeing me in church, with the children and everything. And I told him what happened the night before. And he stood there, I said, "I would like to relieve Neil's mind and the children's too, I was wondering if you would make up an agreement for me that I would stay until the baby was 14, And then they'd be old enough to look after themselves. And then I could be on my way." And he said, "Well, how old are you?" And I said, "Twenty-two." He said, "Now, how old are you going to be by the time this happens?" I said, "Well, that doesn't really matter. It's what I want to do." And he said, "Well, yes, it does matter. You're pretty fond of those kids," "Oh," I said, "I can't leave them. God," I said, "I'll die if I have to leave them," So he asked about the old folks, how I got along with the old folks, I told him they were just wonderful, you know. And he said, "And what do you think of Neil James?" And I said, "Well, there's one thing about him," I said, "I admire him for the effort that he's putting in to try and raise those children after losing his wife." And I said, "I'd like to help him as much as I could," And I said, "I can't leave those kids," I said, "no matter what, I'm after getting too fond of them myself." So he said, "Well, you go out to the kitchen and tell Neil to come in," So, Neil went in and talked to him. Then he talked to the two of us, I guess he asked Neil about marrying me--did he ever think of it? And Neil said no, That he loved Kay and he couldn't love anybody else. Didn't think he could do justice to anybody else. And Fr. Chisholm told him that she was dead. And that she couldn't do what he wanted WE HAVE INFORMATION ON
