year. (What does that mean, to have your own stable?) That you will take horses. It's an established business. You have other people's horses, or your own horses, and you race them. She drove. And she trained. The next one is Mary Lou. She's into horses, but into riding. (Right on their backs.) Yeah. She's into gymkhana, which is the barrel racing and pole bending, that type of thing. So she's always had a barrel-racing course. That's how she spent the summer this year, is just travelling all over the Maritimes. (Barrel racing?) Barrel racing. Donnie is sort of the baby of the family. He's racing professionally now. When it got bad in Sydney a year ago November, he moved to Halifax and set up a public stable there. And got along very, very well. Then it was sort of a blow when Halifax closed--Sackville Downs, And he had 16 horses or so. So he took them back home. So he's been racing here since September. I sort of went to the breeding part of it. Say if we were checking a mare, I would just be the secretary. You look for whether the family produces, whether they go.... And it's really amazing, when you think of--like I did a family tree with my (students) in school. And there were a lot of them--I'm sure they couldn't list their cousins. But when you go to horses, they're so well documented--I guess it's not a comparison--but I could take any horse in our barn and trace it back 200 years. You know, who their father and mothers, and who was in the family, and what did they do. It's very, very well documented. And in standard breeds it's usually--the sire stands on his own, but a mare stands by her family. It's sort of the rule to go by. So your basic standard is speed, of 0m. " ' 1# ' FIUJ]!! The number of forest fires in Cape Breton is increasing. Last year between April and October, 72 were reported. Fortunately, fast action by Lands and Forests crews and volunteer firefighters put them out before they did much damage. Because even a small brush fire can get out of control and ignite nearby trees in seconds, early detection is essential.
