(After your brother got well, did you then go back to Boston?) Yes. (Same work?) Same work. Well, the year after that, I went in? to practical nursing, although I didn't have any training. But I had the experi? ence. And they gave me a job working nights. (When did you get married?) Oh, I got mar? ried after I left the Aspy. (Where did you find your husband?) He found me. I didn't like him, but he found me! Oh, dear, it was funny. He found me in Englishtown. I was working for (a woman) when her baby was born. That's where I met him. (But you didn't like him.) Well, he used to make pretty sly remarks about another fellow I went with before that. He used to tease me, when I was on the Aspy. that I was wasting a 3-cent stamp and all this. I didn't like him for that reason. He was only jealous, I guess, at the time. (Was he able to change your mind?) Yes, he was. And I couldn't have wished for a bet? ter man. He was away a lot of the time, but.... He was away, scaling lumber. New Brunswick. And Dr. MacMillan used to ask me why I wouldn't go along, and follow him. I said, "Do you think I'm going to run around every 6 months and get a new apartment, or take the kids out of school and put them in another school?" Sometimes he didn't get home for 6 months. But we were happy. (Sometimes a little space like that keeps you happy.) Right. RENT-A- WRECK >cnt-a-wrcck The Practical Alternative 564-8366 180 Kings Road, SYDNEY, N. Did you go often to the woods when they were trapping?) No, we only went the once. And boy, I wouldn't have got away the next time, with my fa? ther--! Oh, my father! We were talking about it that night before we went to bed, you know. Before the boys left. They were playing cards at the house. And Angus said, "Why don't you come with us. Nan?" I said, "Yes, I think I will." My father says, "You take her in the morning and I'll kill you!" I said, "Don't worry. Angus."
