

Page 49 - Aunt Annie MacLeod, Wreck Cove

ISSUE : Issue 48

Published by Ronald Caplan on 1988/6/1

That would be doing the work, taking in the wood, and taking in water and doing work like that, besides working with George, and besides doing work in the house. Then we started, after a couple of years, we got on our feet a little more, we liked to have a girl from Ingonish come up in the wintertime, when we had the mailmen. And even the Mounties --oh, my God. The Mounties that were in Ingonish. One time a Mountie came George and Annie MacDermid MacLeod -when I think of what I did to him! He was going by the window in the kitchen. I said, "Where're you going?" He said, "Mr. Burke told me to come here and wait for the other mailman, and leave my horse and sleigh here." I said, "Just wait now." I said, "I'm getting a driver. And you're going up to Alex Morrison's. And he'll bring back the horse and sleigh." The mailman coming at--I don't know--probably early in the afternoon--sitting down till the mailman came, and perhaps the mailman was going to stay all night! I don't think I'd do that to a Mountie today--I'd be glad to have a Mountie on my side. (What did they mean when they said you were up half the night baking? Do they mean baking for all these people?) Of course! If you were ever talking to Johnny Montgomery, The agricultural challenges of tomorrow are being taught today at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College %' "" Degree Programs: B.Sc. (Agr.) Option: Agricultural Engineering Agricultural Mechanization Engineering Animal Science Pre-Veterinary Medicine Plant Science Plant Protection Agricultural Economics Agricultural Soils Agricultural Chemistry Technology Programs: Agriculture Farming Biology Laboratory Chemistry Laboratory Landscape Horticulture Animal Health Agricultural Engineering Technician Programs: Agricultural Engineering Agricultural Business Animal Science Plant Science Farm Equipment Contact: The Registrar Nova Scotia Agricultural College PO Box 550, Truro, Nova Scotia B2N 5E3 The 1988-89 academic calendars are now available.