No Indians scattered out from it, they stayed in that one place all the time. They had canoes. They torched on the river for salmon, trout, eels. They used moose meat • dried it, toasted it on the fire to brown it, like bread. When any white people came to the shore, they ran away afraid. Mary Doucet Newell 1 C A??' ?? But one day going to walk in our meadows along the I QUO ?? river, I drew near to Membertou's cabin, and did write in my table-book part of that which I understood, which is written there yet in these terms: haloet ho ho he he ha ha haloet ho ho he. which they did repeat divers times. The tune is in my said table-book in these notes: re fa sol sol re sol sol fa fa re re sol sol fa fa. One song being ended, that all made a great exclamation, saying E! Then began again another song, saying: Egrigna hau egrigna he he hu hu ho ho egrigna hau hau hau. The tune of this was: fa fa fa sol sol fa fa re re sol sol fa fa re fa fa sol sol fa. Having made the usual exclama? tion, they began yet another song which was: Tameia alleluia tameia dou veni hau hau he he. Once when we had gone a long way off to a fishing place, there passed by five or six women or girls, heavily burdened and weary; our people through courtesy gave them some of our fish, which they immediately put to cook in a kettle, that we loaned them. Scarcely had the kettle begun to boil when a noise was heard, and other Savages could be seen coming; then our poor women fled quickly into the woods, with their kettle only half boiled, for they were hungry. The reason of their flight was that, if they had been seen, they would have been obliged by a rule of politeness to share with the newcomers their food, which was not too abundant. We had a good laugh then; and were still more amused when they, after
