Week, where I'd have to take a photograph of every school, perhaps, in Sydney, or every school in industrial Cape Breton. And sometimes the paper would say, "Look, we'd like to use pictures of classroom groups." So I'd go to the school and I'd take a picture of every group in the school. Or I'd photograph all the kids in the Music Festival in the winters. The groups. The hockey teams. You know, I. The Boy Scout troops. I'd say that my camera lens was focused on almost every person in industrial Cape Breton at some time or other during their lifetime. While I was still doing that kind of photography. ?? "f Av The Royal Visit--we photographed ***" that. And that's where it probably comes about, that "Who do you think you are?--Johnny Abbass?" Since I was working for the newspaper. And I knew what I was supposed to do. I knew what I was allowed to do and what I wasn't allowed to do. So when there would be a Royal Tour--they'd advise us in advance, "Now, don't come any closer than this, or that...." Sometimes I'd say to the person, "Just a minute.
