1-800-565-5140 (INDUSTRIAL CAPE BRETON: 539-5140) Heading for Our 25th Year! A New Book from Cape Breton's Magazine Like the earlier Cape Breton Lives, Cape Breton Works is a new selection of 26 life stories told by Cape Breton people.
With over 300 pages and 150 photographs • this is a book that will keep these Cape Breton treasures alive. Get Cape Breton Works in bookstores anywhere, or use Order Form below. Here's a portion from editor Ronald Caplan's introduction to Cape Breton Works: What seems to me to be of particular value is not so much what happened to people as what they made of what they had • 'and what, looking back, they find worth telling.... Cape Breton Island is an achievement. It is a day-to-day accomplishment. I know it in the the fierceness with which the home-and-school, the local hall, the church, the older ways, the respect for hospitality and conversation, good times, family • are still unashamedly defended here. I know it in the stories told out of Cape Breton lives. Cape Breton WORKS is a book about | love and boxing and sailing and accidents that didn't happen • it is centred on food and family and farming and fish- Cape Breton WORKS includes: Margaret Neil James: A Love Story Anne Morrell, Margaree Valley With Wilfred Poirier, Lobster Buyer The Martells of Flint Island Light Janie Nicholson, Midwife in Baddeck Bill Fraser, Superintendent RCMP, Rtd. Johnny Allan MacDonald of Enon Bowden Murphy: Splitting Fish Hattie Carmichael of the Meadow Rd. Bill Forbrigger and Coastal Schooners Mary Ryan: A Woman's Account Frank Murphy & the Steel Plant Yvon LeBlanc, Fortress Louisbourg Annie and John Battiste's History Horses in the Coal Mines Willy Pat Fitzgerald Rod & Rheta Campbell Jack Yazer, Citizen Gordie MacDougall, Boxer: My Life With Steve Whitty, Ingonish Beach Joe Delaney & His Scarecrows With Hilda Mleczko, Glace Bay ing, coal and steel • on going away and coming back and dealing with possibilities and with what was thrown in their way.
Cape Breton WORKS is a book about some of the strategies and techniques of survival in a tough, tough place • the voices of surviving remnants in a world under siege. The telling of stories is just one of those strategies, those accomplishments. qq pggg , ' 50 photos • $19.95 JLLIG STORIES FROM THE WOMAN FROM AWAY by Tessie Gillis This terrific new novel of a woman's' life in rural Cape Breton, and of the men and women whose struggles, weaknesses and wit enrich her community, comes to life with insight and compassion. Tessie Gillis and her husband returned to his home community in the 1950s. Her love for what she observed and learned as she worked on their small farm and shared in the tightly woven community life of their neighbours, combined with her keen eye for characteristic detail and the heart of each person's story, were tempered by her own illness into stories that deliver a bold, rare portrait of unparalleled intensity.
