with that and everything is good and you can pay the pallbearers and the priest. What more do you want? And you're going to put that in the ground!... I was to North Sydney Hospital. There was a fellow, he was very religious, he be? longed from Sydney Mines. And sometimes I used to say "Christ" or "Jesus"--not swearing but, you know, you have a kind of a slang and you kind of forget yourself. So this priest, he died--he was an alco? holic, too, this priest. But anyway, the fellow that was next door, he told (this priest), he says, "You know that fellow swears." He says, "You better preach to him." So (the priest)--he was about as tall as you, a big man, a very nice man. "Well." I said, "Father, I don't feel that I'm swearing. It's a slang that I have." And I says, "I pray every night that I love God and everything. But," I says. "I'm gonna tell you. I should quit. I should quit that." And I says, habit that I have sometimes." But I says, "I'm going to tell you, from now on," I says, "come in to visit me later on. I'm go? ing to try it anyway." I says, "Every time I'm gonna say that word," I says, "I'm gonna put a quarter for charity." So 3 or 4 days, you know. "Well," he said, "how did it work?" I says. "Father. I ran out of quarters!" He was laughing like hell. (When you were small, wasn't the priest almost himself holy in these communities?) You're coming to a story that I'm gonna tell you. Now the priest comes in to give us holy communion once a month. So I have a candle, see. The second Sunday of Febru? ary they call that Candlemas Day, the can? dles are blessed. See that candle way on top there, that was blessed on the second (Sunday) of ' February. He came in and he gives you holy com? munion and a little candle. He says, "You know, this is the first place I come that they have a candle 15 Minutes (From Sydney, that is.)
