

Page 92 - William H. "Bull" Maranh - Still Fighting

ISSUE : Issue 72

Published by Ronald Caplan on 1997/6/1

the cheap American coal that was coming in from the States. They call that subven? tions. And after that, they started paying subsidies--direct money to the company. We forced that. (What do you mean, "we forced that"?) That's just what I'm telling you. Because they were doing it with everybody else. (Now, why didn't the politicians say to you, "Bill, go to hell." And the religious people--why would they join you on a dele? gation to go to Ottawa about these prob? lems?) Because--Number One, we researched it. Number Two, we publicized it, and Num? ber Three, we gave the leadership. Because when we went up as a delegation, and when we went to meet with the government, we didn't only speak for coal miners, we spoke for the communities. They built the churches, they built the schools. And you know, when I came on the job, the storekeepers and the--they were so stupid, you wouldn't believe it. When we'd get in a fight with the company, they'd support the $HEATHIN