'Nuair a chaidh e suas gu ait a righ c'uir e failt' air a righ agus chuir an righ failt air. Dh' to seek his fortune. Long or short as his journey was, he reached a place where there were three beasts quarrelling and battling over some food that they had. And who was there but the Dusky Hound, the Dun Otter and the Grey, Hooked Hawk. He went up to them and asked them what ivas going on here, and they made him un? derstand that they could not eat their food until someone had divided it for them. The lad began dividing up the food, and he gave a share of the food to the Dun Otter saying, **You can find food on land and sea, and-under the water, so I'll give you this share.** Then he turned to the Grey, Hooked Hawk with these words: **You can find food on the ground and high up above you, so I'll give you the two shares I have here? But," he said, ??*the poor Dusky Hound can only get what's extended to him, so I'll give him three shares.** And so it was. The hound awfully thankful for the way in which that task had been performed and he said, **If you should ever need the quick? ness of my feet it will be enough to re? member me and I will come to your aid.** The Grey, Hooked Hawk said likewise, **If )' on Trans-Canada Hwy.' 5 miles west of Baddeck • Heated Swimming Pool • Laundromat - Camper's Store • Playground - Hot Showers • Hookups - Canoeing • Seafood Chowder House BADDECK - CABOT TRAIL KAMPGROUND MR.
